Introduction

The Florida Legislature created Collier County in 1923 from portions of Lee and Monroe counties. It is located on the southern gulf coast of the Florida peninsula, due west of the Miami-Ft. Lauderdale area. Naples, located in the western and coastal area of Collier County, is the largest of the 3 incorporated cities in Collier County. Everglades City lies south and east of Naples and recently incorporated City of Marco Island lies south along the Gulf of Mexico.

Collier County contains approximately 2,025.45 square miles of land area. The climate of Collier County is sub-tropical. The average annual temperature is approximately 75 degrees, with January having an average temperature of 67 degrees, and in June, an average of 82 degrees. Freezes are not common in the area, although “jacket weather” does occur periodically during the fall and winter months. Rainfall averages about 54 inches annually with much of the precipitation occurring during the summer months. The yearly rainfall and year-round mild temperature enable agriculture to be productive throughout most of a typical year.

Collier County Government

A five-member Board of County Commissioners elected for terms of four years governs Collier County. Each commissioner represents a particular district within the County. The Board of County Commissioners hires a County Manager, who heads the County government staff and departments. [It is the function of the County Manager’s office to head the daily operations of the government in providing quality services to our citizens.]

Profile Overview

The 2003 Collier County Community Profile describes the demographic, economic and social characteristics of Collier County. The data includes existing conditions, projections and trends, as well as comparisons of Collier County with the State of Florida and other counties.

A number of maps exist for planning purposes and the public. The County is divided into 12 different planning communities. This, in part, allows for a more structured monitoring program on the development of the County, and allows for smoother implementation of the County’s Growth Management Plan.

Demographic Characteristics

The census count grew from 85,971 to 152,099¹ from 1980 to 1990 with a percent change of 77%. The census count grew from 152,099 to 251,377² from 1990 to 2000 with a percent change of 65%, while the State grew by 24%, and the U.S. grew by 10%. The County has an estimated population density of 131 persons³ per square mile. From 1990 to 2000, Collier County's permanent population increased from 152,099 to 215,043 with a percentage increase of 42%.⁴ The annual growth is 5% and is anticipated to continue at approximately the same rate for the foreseeable future.

In 2000, the U.S. Census reported Collier County's median age at 44.1 years, compared to the State's median age of 38.7 years, and a national median of 36.1 years.⁵ A significant age disparity exists within Collier County. In 2000, the average median age within these selected Collier County coastal communities of Golden Gate City, Goodland, Lely, Naples Manor, Naples, Pelican Bay and Naples Park was 48.4 years as compared to the inland farming community of Immokalee, which had a median age of 24.7 years.⁶

Economic Characteristics

Major industrial sectors within Collier County include services, retail trade, finance, insurance, real estate, agriculture and construction. Historically, employment within the County has been seasonal and largely attributable to a pleasant sub-tropical climate during the winter months, creating a seasonal-based tourist economy. Recently, however, Collier County's seasonal population has stayed longer thus adding in greater diversity to the County's economy.

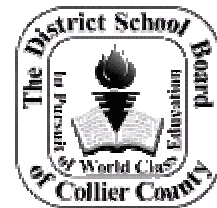

The County's unemployment rate was an average of 4.4% in 2002, contrasted with a statewide average of 5.5%. The per capita income for Collier County in 1999 was $40,121, which is the highest in the State of Florida. The State's per capita income is $27,764 and the national per capita income is $29,451, respectively.

Social Activities

Collier County has within its borders a variety of social, recreational, and educational opportunities for its citizens and visitors. The County has 71 golf courses, and 11 approved, but not yet constructed golf courses. The County also has a variety of neighborhood parks, community parks and regional parks as well as beach and waterfront parks. Furthermore, Collier County is blessed to have some of the most spectacular state and national parks, preserves, and wildlife refuges in the Nation: the Big Cypress National Preserve and Wildlife Refuge, Florida Panther National Wildlife Refuge, Fakahatchee Strand State Preserve, Everglades National Park, Collier Seminole State Park, Rookery Bay National Estuarine Research Reserve, and Cape Romano-Ten Thousands Islands Aquatic Preserve.

Education (K-12)

The Collier County School Board provides public education within the County for both incorporated and unincorporated areas. The County currently has 22 elementary schools, 8 middle schools and 5 high schools with a total student enrollment of 31,310.

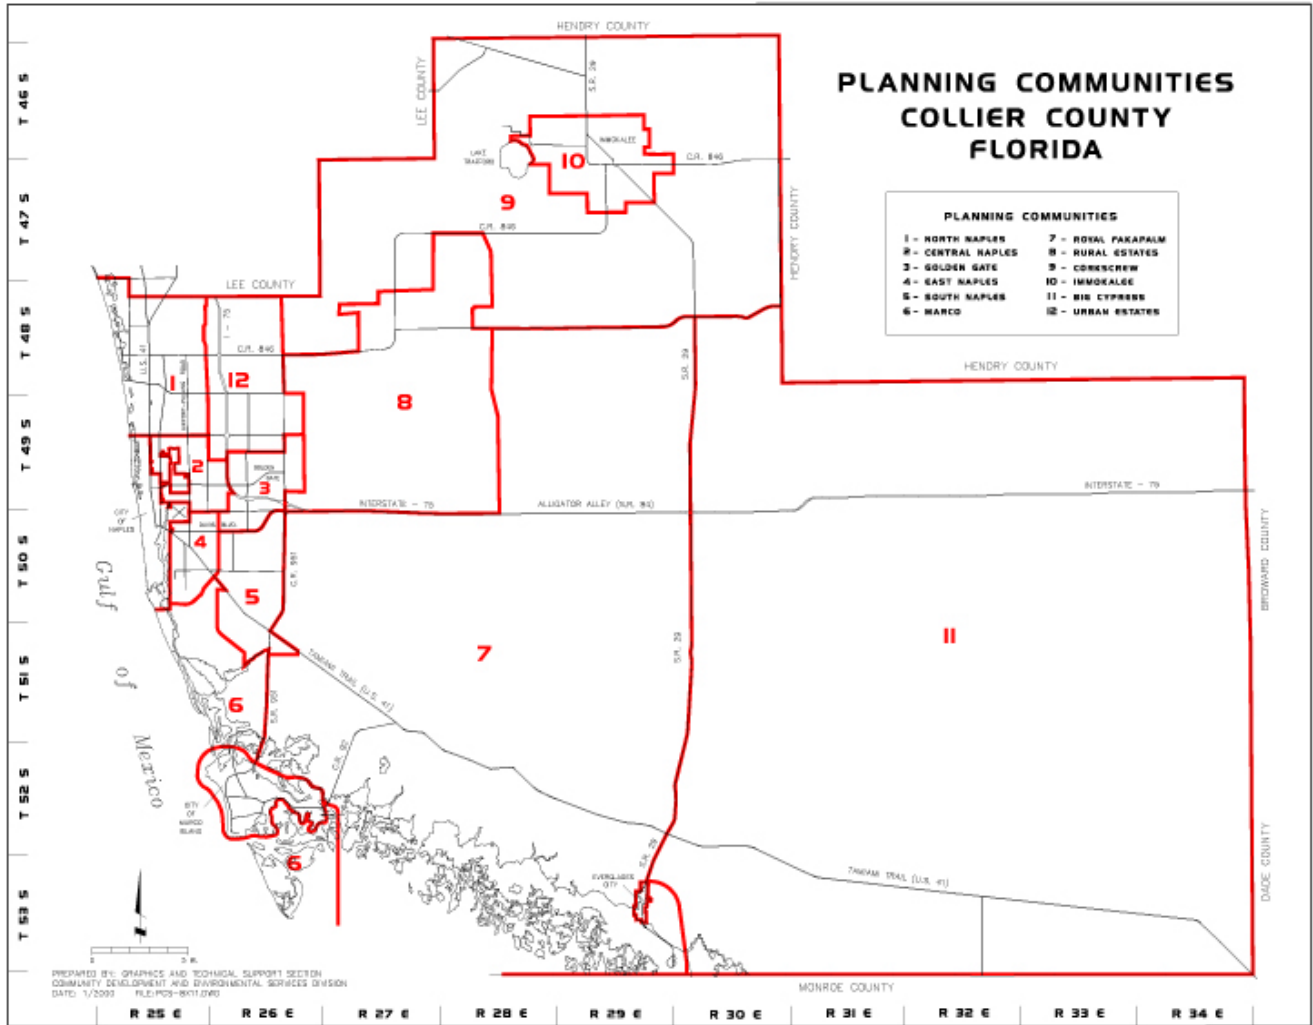

The number of students enrolled by school type is as follows:

School Type	2002 - 2003 Enrollment	1999-2000 Enrollment
Elementary (K - 5)	18,021	15,911
Middle (6 - 8)	8,429	6,810
High (9 - 12)	10,576	8,589

Notes:

- 1) 2000 Naples, Marco Island, Everglades City, Unincorporated County and County-wide totals are estimates from the U.S. Census Bureau, Census 2000 Redistricting Data (Public Law 94-171).
- 2) 2000 Planning Community estimates are based upon County Planning staff review of 2000 Census maps and population data.
- 3) 2001 Naples, Marco Island, Everglades City, Unincorporated County and County-wide totals are estimates from BEBR (Bureau of Economic and Business Research) at the University of Florida.
- 4) 2002 Naples, Everglades City, and County-wide totals are estimates from BEBR.
- 5) Due to dispute by City of Marco Island over the 2002 estimate provided by BEBR, the 2002 Marco Island estimate is from the City of Marco Island. The unincorporated BEBR estimate is reduced by the amount of the Marco Island increase over the BEBR estimate (554).
- 6) 2001 Planning Community estimates were prepared by County Planning staff using Certificate of Occupancy data & 1990 Census persons per dwelling unit ratios.
- 7) Naples and Marco Island projections were provided by respective city's Planning staff, in 5-year increments. In-between years are straightline projections prepared by County Planning staff.
- 8) 2003 - 2015 Everglades City totals are projections prepared by County staff and reflect the average annual growth between 2000-2001, per BEBR and Census data (9 persons/year).
- 9) 2003 - 2007 County-wide totals are projections based upon BEBR High Range growth rates between 2002-2005, and 2005-2010, per BEBR, Bulletin #134, Jan. 2003.
- 10) 2008 - 2015 County-wide totals are projections based upon 95% of BEBR High Range growth rates between 2005-2010, and 2010-1015, per BEBR, Bulletin #134, Jan. 2003.
- 11) Planning Community projections were prepared by County Planning staff using Certificate of Occupancy data & 1990 Census persons per dwelling unit ratios.
- 12) The Golden Gate Planning Community is projected to reach the buildout population figure as contained in the 1994 Urban Area Build-out Study, Phase I. It is acknowledged that this may or may not be the actual buildout figure.
- 13) Some of the Totals may not equal the sum of the individual figures due to rounding.
- 14) BEBR preliminary figures for April 1, 2003: 291,902 for all of Collier County, and 254,255 for unincorporated Collier County. BEBR projections are revised annually, typically in Spring.

Factor for County Seasonal Population Estimates & Projections

Collier County has become increasingly popular as a vacation spot or winter home for many individuals and families. In addition, the Immokalee area experiences an influx of migrant farm workers during the winter harvest months due to the agricultural industry.

It is estimated that during the peak seasonal month in the coastal area (all planning communities minus Immokalee), the seasonal population is approximately 33% greater than the October 1st permanent population. It is also estimated that the Immokalee Planning Community experiences an influx of approximately 15,000 people during the winter, which is an increase of approximately 84% of the permanent population. Seasonal estimates are provided in the following table:

2003 Seasonal Population Projection
AREA	POPULATION
Coastal	382,341
Immokalee	+ 42,127
TOTALS	424,468

Source: Collier County Comprehensive Planning Section, July 2000

Several factors were utilized to develop the “third” (33%) increase in the coastal population including: the rate of increase in taxable sales, traffic counts, gasoline sales, and, electrical customer hook-ups. These four variables were used based upon their close correlation to seasonal population fluctuations. The average rate of increase for each variable is determined as follows:

Taxable Sales	+49%
Traffic Counts	+21%
Gasoline Sales	+25%
Electrical Hook-up Data	+26%

Data from the 2000 Census was also used to develop seasonal population estimates. The following method is used:

$$\begin{array}{l}
 \% \text{ of vacant housing units held for occasional use} \\
 \times \text{ number of vacant housing units} \\
 \times \text{ persons per household} \\
 + \text{ total hotel and motel occupants} \\
 \hline
 = \text{ Seasonal increase}
 \end{array}$$

This census technique results in a 39% increase over the October 1st permanent population. The percentage developed for each factor was applied to the permanent population to generate a seasonal population estimate per factor. The estimates were then averaged to develop one seasonal estimate. The estimate was determined to be a 33% seasonal increase for the coastal area's October 1st permanent population.

The seasonal population for the Immokalee Planning Community was obtained from the State Department of Labor and Employment Security. They have estimated that 12,000 seasonal farm-workers migrate to Immokalee during the winter months. Staff has increased this figure to 15,000 after the year 1992 to reflect the anticipated growth of the citrus industry. Peak season calculations are not done County-wide since the reliability of the Immokalee data is low relative to the coastal areas, due to concerns regarding persons per household rates.

The permanent population projections are also used to generate seasonal population projections. The 33% increase is applied to October 1st coastal permanent population projections (less Immokalee) to generate seasonal population projections for the coastal area. Please note that a separate Master Plan for Immokalee was adopted in 1991 and amended in 1997. The population figures in the Immokalee Area Master Plan may differ slightly from those indicated below.
