Notes:

1. Percent figures are rounded.
2. Hispanic or Latino population may be of any Race.
3. Responses provided on the decennial Census questionnaire are self-reported, including identification of Race; each individual completing the Census form identifies the Race of all persons in the residence. While it cannot be known with certainty what each individual means in selecting the "Some Other Race" category, Census Bureau testing and research offers some insight. For example, some persons that self-identify as "Some Other Race" are of Hispanic or Latino ethnicity thus appear to view that ethnicity as a Race, while others may self-identify Race based upon their country or region of origin, e.g. White Irish instead of White.
